"From the beginnings of our school exploring media streaming, through installation, configuration, training and support, PlanetPC have been excellent. The early in-school demonstration focused not on the solution - but the potential teaching and learning opportunities the solution would bring and from that early stage it was clear that PlanetPC would be an excellent partner for the school exploring video capabilities. The company were clear about the components we required, upfront on the costs and let us make our decisions in our own time without "sales pressure".

Installation was quick and effective, allowing us to begin using the system in the classroom within days of its arrival. Subsequent to installation, support has been excellent - with issues resolved in a very timely fashion. Our experience of dealing with PlanetPC to supply our eStream system has led us to use them to supply other equipment to further our use of video technology in the school."
